

BMC SRM Development Network Instructions

Welcome to the BMC Developer Network (BMCDN).

Before starting your exploration of the BMCDN, there are a couple of concepts you should be familiar with:

1. Tagging:

The BMCDN uses tags (which you might refer to as keywords or categories) extensively to provide rich metadata about discussions, documents, and blog posts. You are not required to use a tag or tags when you post information, but it is certainly helpful.

2. Discussions:

Have a question or a problem? Can't figure out how to install the latest version of Widget XYZ? Post a question to the community and let other members assist you with your work.

3. Wikis:

A wiki is an easy way to create documents with your fellow team members. Use wiki documents in place of Microsoft Word and you will be happier at the end of the day. Remember that you can always roll back to a prior version of a document and that you can give permissions to other people to help you write a document.

If you need help navigating or using the site, please see the BMCDN FAQs forum under the BMCDN community. We strive to make this site a resource for all BMC Software related communities. To inquire about adding your community to the site, please use the BMCDN Feedback forum under the BMCDN community.

Enjoy and thank you for your participation on the BMC Developer Network!
